The Clinical Research Nurses at the OP3 Outpatient Clinic care for adults who are enrolled in a variety of National Institutes of Health (NIH) research studies. Our team works together to give you the best care during your time at the Clinical Center. Here is some information about what you and your family can expect.

What happens when you arrive?
When you arrive at the clinic, please sign in at the front desk, update your demographic sheet (available in English and Spanish), and sit in the waiting room.

Please tell us right away if you have:
- Signs of infections (fever, runny nose, diarrhea)
- A history of being on isolation
- Respiratory (breathing) symptoms; if so, please ask for a mask and put it on right away
- MRSA, VRE, CRE, KPC or any other similar infection (or a history of these infections)

What are isolation precautions?
If you have a disease that could spread to others, then we may ask you to wear a mask while in the hospital. You may also need to follow rules about leaving the room. Your nurse or doctor will explain what to do. By following these rules, your family can help stop the spread of diseases.

Do you need identification?
We will give you an ID bracelet to wear on the wrist. Please understand that you need to keep it on at all times. The ID bracelet will serve as identification for lab collection and medication administration at NIH.

What should you bring with you?
Please bring your medicines that you take with you or bring an up-to-date list of your medicines and dosages with you, including over-the-counter and herbal medications and vitamin supplements. If you bring medicines that require refrigeration, please let your nurse know so that we can store them for you. Let your nurse know if you have any drug allergies.

If your NIH doctor prescribes medicines to take home that are related to your research study, they will be filled at the Outpatient Pharmacy on the first floor. The hours are:
- Monday –Thursday: 8:30a.m. - 6p.m.
- Friday: 8:30a.m. - 8p.m.
- Weekends and Holidays: 8:30a.m. - 12:30p.m.

What can you expect during you visit?
Your care may include:
- Checking vital signs (temperature, blood pressure, pulse, oxygen measurement, weight, and height)
- Taking medical history and doing a physical assessment (screening, follow-up, and consult)
- Receiving treatment specific to your protocol, such as blood work, accessing ports, dressing changes, and wound care

We provide services for:
- Surgical Oncology
- Endocrinology
- Urologic Oncology
- Thoracic Surgical
- Immunotherapy
- Gastrointestinal (GI)
As part of your protocol, you will need x-rays and other tests. Your physician or nurse will tell you the reason for each test and what happens before, during, and after. Some tests require a consent form, which your doctor will ask you to sign before the test is done.

How do you receive meals?
Saltine crackers and graham crackers are provided for you in the waiting room. Juices and ginger ale are available in the fridge in the lobby. Food may also be purchased in vending machines throughout the Clinical Center and in cafeterias and cafes. There are also many restaurants in Bethesda, about two miles from the hospital.

What are the rules about visitors?
A visitor may accompany a patient to the designated unit, into the room of the patient whom they are visiting, and into common rooms (lounges, cafeterias, playrooms). We ask that you have no more than two visitors in the room at one time. Please do not visit other patients in isolation rooms while the patient is being seen by the provider. Please keep in mind:

- Visitors who have been recently exposed to an infectious disease (for example, impetigo, chickenpox, tuberculosis, hepatitis) may not visit.
- Visitors with cold or flu symptoms are discouraged from visiting.
- Visitors must wash their hands or use hand sanitizer when coming in and leaving your room to prevent spreading germs.
- The bathroom in your room is only for you and other patients. Visitors should use the Clinical Center’s public bathrooms.
- NIH is a smoke-free campus. If you have any questions about our smoking policy, please talk to your health care team. The NIH police may fine anyone who smokes on the NIH property.

If you have health problems at home?
If you have a health emergency at home, call 911 right away.

Patient Portal
The National Institutes of Health Clinical Center FollowMyHealth Patient Portal is a secure system to provide you with information on the medical care that you received at the Clinical Center including lab tests, radiology results and more.
